

The Visa Officer

Canadian Visa Office

[Country of which Visa office is located]

Hello,

I am writing this letter to explain the details based on the reasons of my previous student visa rejection. I applied xx,xx,xxxx date (comma/and xx,xxx,xxxx date – include all the rejected visa application date) for my study permit for Fall'32 to study in M.Sc in Biotechnology program at University of Manitoba. Unfortunately, my study permit visa was rejected for the following reasons:

1. Reason 1 (Rejection reasons will be stated in the rejection letter provided by the embassy)

Explanation of Reason 1

2. Reason 2

Explanation of Reason 2

3. Same as before (Add all the rejection reasons and explain it)

In support of this letter, I am attaching few documents for your kind consideration. I earnestly hope that you would grant me study permit for Fall'32 to study in M.Sc in Biotechnology at University of Manitoba.

Documents List:

2.
3.

Best,

Your Name

Your address

TIPS:

If your student visa got rejected for not having enough family ties (meaning visa officer already assumed that you won't leave Canada after completion of your degree), then try to prove that you will really come back to your country after completion of your study. Here are few suggestions for you:

1. Old parents to take care of
2. Taking care of family business or property (attach valid documents like property evaluation or legal documents that proves your tie with the mentioned property)
3. Employment leave (Submit a letter from your employer that you will resume at that company after completion of your degree)

Last but not the least, learn to think like an visa officer. Ask yourself, if you were a visa officer, will you be convinced with the explanation provided. Another most important point is “BE GENUINE, DON”T LIE”. Visa officers are there to provide you with student visa but not to reject you. Keep in mind, genuine explanation will take you a long way! Cheers!
